CONSENT FOR ENDODONTIC THERAPY

Please review the following consent form. You will be required to sign this form prior to the initiation of treatment. Your signature does not commit you to any treatment.

I understand the root canal therapy is a procedure that retains a tooth, which may otherwise require extraction. As a specialty practice, this office performs only endodontic therapy and associated surgery. Treatment will require a series of x-rays and may require multiple visits. It is important you keep your scheduled appointments or infection may reoccur. In most cases there is only mild discomfort after treatment. This usually lasts 2-4 days and is usually controlled by ibuprofen, Tylenol or a prescribed medication. Although root canal therapy has a very high degree of success, results cannot be guaranteed. During treatment, complications may be discovered which make treatment difficult, impossible, or which may require dental surgery. The most common complications include but are not limited to:

- continued infection
- blocked canals due to natural calcification, filings, prior treatment, or separated instruments
- pain requiring use of medication
- fracture of the root or crown of the tooth during and after treatment
- tenderness of the tooth following treatment or due to gum disease, physical stress from chewing, or poor healing of your body

Occasionally, a tooth which has had root canal therapy, may require retreatment, surgery, or even extraction. During and following treatment, the tooth may be brittle and subject to fracture. A restoration (filling), crown and/or post and core will be necessary to restore the tooth, and your general dentist will perform these procedures. If the tooth already has a crown, it may have to be replaced due to decay, fracture, or loss of structural support. The restoration of your tooth (filling, crown, etc.) will be performed by your general dentist and our fee does not include these services. During endodontic treatment, there is the possibility of instrument separation within the root canals, perforations (extra openings), damage to bridges, existing fillings, crowns or porcelain veneers, missed canals, loss of tooth structure in gaining access to canals, and fractured teeth. Also, there are times when a minor surgical procedure may be indicated or when the tooth may not be amenable to endodontic treatment at all. Other treatment choices include no treatment, a waiting period for more definitive symptoms to develop, tooth extraction, or extraction paired with restorative or implant possibilities. Risks involved in those choices might include, but are not limited to, pain, infection, swelling, loss of teeth, and infection to other areas.

Occasionally, a patient may experience side effects or reactions due to medications used during or after treatment. Medications prescribed for discomfort and/or sedation may cause drowsiness, which can be increased by the use of alcohol or other drugs. We advise you do not operate a motor vehicle or any hazardous device while taking such medications. In addition, certain medications may cause allergic reactions, such as hives or intestinal discomfort. If any of these problems occur, call our office immediately. It is the patient's responsibility to report any changes in his/her medical history when known.

I fully understand the above statements in this consent form.

Furthermore, I give this office my permission to voice record, tape digitally, videotape and/or take 35mm and/or digital photos of my procedure for purposes of completing my medical record and/or for patient education.

Note: All medical records will be kept strictly confidential.
